

Supplier Code of Conduct

1. Purpose

Cromwell recognises the importance of building and maintaining strong partnerships with our Suppliers. Core to this relationship is an expectation that Suppliers hold a joint commitment to conduct business with integrity, honesty and in compliance with the law. Our Supplier Code of Conduct is underpinned by our corporate values and our various corporate policies, including our Procurement Policy and ESG Policy.

Cromwell expects that as providers of products or services, all Suppliers will demonstrate and uphold our values, respect the rights of all people and uphold human rights in their business operations.

2. Scope

This Supplier Code of Conduct (“Code”) applies to the supply of any goods and services to:

- Cromwell Property Group;
- Cromwell Property Group’s direct and indirect subsidiaries (together with Cromwell Property Group, “Cromwell”); and
- Any fund or entity sponsored or managed by Cromwell (each, a “Cromwell Client”).

In this Code “Supplier” means any third-party organisation or individual directly or indirectly engaged by Cromwell or any Cromwell Client, including any representatives or agents appointed to act on their behalf.

The Code of Conduct is intended to promote Suppliers to comply with the letter as well as the spirit of the applicable laws and governing jurisdictions, it is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all requirements to be followed by Suppliers.

In the event of a conflict between this Code and any act, legislation, law, rule or regulation, the highest standard will prevail. The principles outlined in this Code apply to all Suppliers, regardless of the geographical location of their operations or whether they are engaged in the supply of goods or services.

The Code will be incorporated into the terms of engagement or referenced in the terms and conditions of contract that are issued by Cromwell and/or any Cromwell Client to engage a Supplier for the provision of goods or services. It is also available as a downloadable link via Cromwell Property Group’s website: <https://www.cromwellpropertygroup.com/>

3. Statement

The Supplier Code of Conduct sets out Cromwell’s expectations of Suppliers to comply with relevant laws including, but not limited to, those governing consumer protection, environment, social, anti-competition, human rights, modern slavery and health, safety and welfare laws.

Suppliers are expected to demonstrate values that set excellence and best practice in accountability. These include promoting human rights consistent with the International Bill of Human Rights including:

- The United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights;
- The International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights;
- The UN Global Compact Principles on Business and Human Rights; and
- The OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

Cromwell expects that Suppliers comply with this Code and in turn to apply an equivalent expectation on their own operations, services and supply chains. Where a Supplier becomes aware of a breach of this Code, they must notify Cromwell immediately and take the necessary steps to rectify the breach.

In entering into a contract for the supply of products, goods or services to Cromwell or any Cromwell Client, a Supplier is acknowledging these obligations and warranting that to the best of their knowledge, at the point of entry into the supply contract, there are no material breaches in meeting their obligations and expectations set out in this Code.

Suppliers must:

- (i) develop and maintain a process to identify employment and human rights risks, health and safety risks, environmental risks, business ethics risks, and legal and compliance risks associated with their operations,
- (ii) determine the relative significance of each risk, and
- (iii) implement appropriate procedures and controls to minimise the identified risks.

If requested by Cromwell, a Supplier must permit Cromwell's nominated representatives to periodically evaluate a Supplier's facilities and operations, and those of the Suppliers subcontractors, to the extent they are providing goods or services to Cromwell or any Cromwell Client. Suppliers must maintain appropriate documents and records to ensure compliance with all applicable legal, tax and regulatory requirements.

Cromwell reserves the right to require an annual declaration of compliance with the Code from a Supplier and to further request evidence of the measures that have been taken to identify and address human rights issues that are directly linked to their operations, products or services.

It is an expectation that the Suppliers will contact Cromwell immediately where they become aware of any breach of this Code.
